A. PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Library of Congress is announcing a Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) to award grants in support of contemporary ethnographic field research focusing on the cultures and traditions of diverse communities across the United States. This funding opportunity is authorized by 20 U.S.C. 2101, et. seq. The resulting award will be subject to the Library of Congress Regulation (LCR) 7-310 (Grants and Cooperative Agreements) and provisions of 2 CFR 200 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Costs Principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards as indicated.

A.1 Background

The Library of Congress is the largest library in the world, with millions of books, recordings, photographs, newspapers, maps and manuscripts in its collections. The Library has dedicated significant resources to collecting born-digital materials and digitizing its tangible collections. The Library's Digital Strategy (www.loc.gov/digital-strategy) outlines the ways that technology and digital approaches can enable the Library to meet its goal of ensuring that "All Americans are connected to the Library of Congress." The Library's mission is to engage, inspire, and inform Congress and the American people with a universal and enduring source of knowledge and creativity.

A.2 Purpose

Through a gift from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the Library will support a multiyear initiative that entails public participation in the creation of archival collections. Specifically, the Library of Congress seeks to award grants to support contemporary cultural documentation focusing on the culture and traditions of diverse, often underrepresented communities in the United States today. These projects will result in archival collections preserved at the American Folklife Center and made accessible through the Library of Congress' web site. The major goals of this grant program are to enable communities to document their cultural traditions, practices, and experiences from their own perspectives, while enhancing the Library's holdings with materials featuring creativity and knowledge found at the local level. As such, successful proposals will come from applicants within or closely affiliated with the community they propose to document.

Funding through these grants can be used to cover travel, equipment rental or purchase, and other expenses associated with cultural documentation fieldwork. American Folklife Center folklorists and archivists can assist successful applicants in providing support for specific aspects of cultural documentation activities, such as sharing expertise or training in fieldwork methods, archival practices, and associated digital technologies. Library staff will be available to provide technical advice, and work with successful applicants to facilitate a cohort for sharing knowledge and lessons learned. In consultation with American Folklife Center staff during the award process, awardees have the option to develop public programs connected to their projects in their home communities, as potentially supported by additional funds (see Section A.4.1). The American Folklife Center is seeking to build long-term relationships with grantees and to give grantees the opportunity to present their work in a forum at the Library of Congress in Washington D.C.

The following list is meant to inspire, but not limit, possibilities with regards to cultural documentation projects applicants might propose. Projects should include a combination of interviews, still photography, digital video, field notes, or other forms of documentation:

- Exploration of a community festival or other culturally-meaningful celebration through interviews with organizers and participants, audio-visual documentation of activities affiliated with the event (including planning, set up, and post-event activity), and any ephemera or material culture

- Seasonal or periodic documentation of institutions or gathering places, such as farmers markets, informal social hang-outs, craft fairs, or other periodic spaces that might serve as anchors or markers of community
- Community-centric reflection on emergent cultural traditions or practices that have developed as responses to shared collective experience of widespread recent phenomena such as the COVID-19 pandemic, social justice movements, or economic change
- Broad examination of community-specific cultural practices that can serve as markers of various aspects of identity, such as practices around death or bereavement, life milestones, or transition into different modes or phases of living; transmission of language or other intangible aspects of heritage; or informally learned aspects of communication that help cohere a social group
- Community history of a neighborhood or other type of geographically-delimited collective space that tracks change and continuity from the perspective of current residents, both long-term and newly arrived, via multi-format documentation
- Documentation focused on temporality, such as tracing traditions and their changes over time, which can include multi-sited projects, but do not need to be delimited geographically.

A.2.1 Potential projects that are not fundable

The following types of projects would not qualify for funding through this program:

- Projects that are focused solely on oral history, in which contemporary cultural activity is not documented and only one format or mode of documentation is used
- Projects focused narrowly on the life history of an individual or family
- Projects that tend solely to events, cultural activity, or communities from the past (i.e. there is no contemporary presence or manifestation)

A.3 Program Expectations and Deliverables

A.3.1 Cultural documentation project

Design, develop and implement a project that enables communities to document their cultural life and experiences from their own perspectives, while enriching the Library's holdings with diverse materials. The project must feature creativity, knowledge, and/or cultural activity found at the local level in existing communities. Successful applications will come from organizations closely affiliated with the community they propose to document. In addition to providing collection materials to the Library, awardees may also retain copies for deposit and preservation in local institutions.

A.3.2 Enhance the Library's Archive of Folk Culture

Successful applicants agree to provide the American Folklife Center with the cultural documentation materials created during the period of performance of the grant. Successful applicants may also choose to keep copies of the collection materials in the community, and American Folklife Center staff can offer technical assistance and guidance to support local stewardship. The Library intends to be attentive to culturally sensitive materials that may be included in a project, and will work with grant awardees to determine the most appropriate approach regarding access. Successful applicants must adhere to ethical standards for cultural documentation, including obtaining consent and permissions to conduct fieldwork and deposit materials at the Library of Congress. The Library will provide Library-approved release forms.

Successful applicants must submit documentation in digital formats using American Folklife Center metadata forms for descriptive, administrative, technical and other data. In addition to audio or video interviews, submitted materials must include time-coded logs or time-coded transcripts and permission and release forms signed by interviewees. Library staff will provide training and information regarding accepted Library of Congress standards and practices for submitting collections. All digital submissions will be in accordance with the following specifications:

- Digital audio: 96 kHz/24bit or 44.1 kHz/16bit .wav file (only .wav files will be accepted).
- Digital video: high-resolution digital video format (consult with AFC staff for specifications)
- Digital images: high-resolution digital images, uncompressed and nonproprietary file formats (TIFF)
- Text files (for logs, field notes, final report, etc.): Microsoft Word

A.3.3 Participate in symposium

Successful applicants will be invited to participate in a symposium in 2024 hosted by the Center at the Library of Congress. Representatives from projects funded in each year may agree to participate in the non-mandatory symposium to share elements of their documentation and discuss their experiences. The Library will pay travel separately, and participation will not impact a grant award and should not be included in proposed project costs.

A.3.4 Contribute to blog

All successful applicants will be asked to write posts for the Library blog(s) about relevant topics.

A.4 Overview of Selection Process

The Library will use a panel review process to evaluate all eligible and complete applications against the criteria listed in Section E of this document. Panelists are professionals in the Library and/or field with relevant knowledge and expertise in the types of project activities identified in the application. The selecting official will review panel recommendations and make final funding decisions consistent with the purposes of the program’s mission and goals.

Applications will be evaluated primarily for:

- Advancement of program goals
- Feasibility of project outcomes
- Alignment of applicant background and experience
- Reasonableness of costs and likelihood that budget will support project execution

Section E. Application Review provides more detailed information about evaluation criteria.

A.4.1 Optional public program

During the award process, awardees have the option to discuss with American Folklife Center staff the possible development of a public program(s) connected to their projects in their home communities. Such programs would be designed to share the project locally, among source communities and the public. Hosting a public program is not required, but the option to do so may be supported with up to $10,000 in separate, additional funds provided by the American Folklife Center, as part of the Of the People: Widening the Path initiative.

E. APPLICATION REVIEW AND AWARD

E.1 Criteria for Proposal Evaluation

The Library will assemble panels comprising a member of the American Folklife Center Board of Trustees, American Folklife Center staff, and invited panelists. This committee will assess each proposal on its feasibility, alignment with stated program goals, contributions to the cultural and geographic diversity of AFC holdings, and articulated value to the community of origin.

Specifically, key considerations in evaluating each application will be:

- a) Advancement of program goals
 - The extent to which the applicant’s proposal shows a connection to the community proposed. Applicants must articulate the relationships to the community and its cultural practices.
 - The extent to which applicant provided information on the types of cultural activity, experience, and/or traditions they will document. Applicants must offer examples of the kinds of community cultural practices (e.g. events, performances, material culture) that will be documented and the methods and technologies that will be used (e.g. audio-recorded interviews, photographs, descriptive notes).
 - The extent to which the significance of the project is made clear, and its potential to help raise public awareness of the documented cultural activity and community.
- b) Feasibility of successful project outcomes
 - The extent to which the project design, implementation plan, and timeline aligns with the availability of the project personnel and access to cultural activity. Successful applications will provide evidence that the project can succeed and that the scale and scope is appropriate to the proposed budget and 12 month grant period.
 - The extent to which the applicant has outlined and addressed any logistical factors or contingencies that could impede project success, such as: access to community and/or cultural activity, scheduling or other time dependencies, availability of team members or collaborators, or any travel-related risks.
 - To what degree has the applicant shown they possess the capacity to successfully complete the project and meet stated aims?
- c) Background and experience
 - Applicant demonstrates they have experience, training, and/or skills supporting completion of the project. Formal training or credentials in ethnography/cultural documentation/fieldwork methods are not required, but familiarity with documentary tools and methods enhance proposal competitiveness.
 - Do the identified collaborators, consultants, and/or service providers possess the skills necessary to complete the work?

- The extent to which the applicant’s proposal demonstrates connection to a community, and that the project has value for the community.

d) Reasonableness of costs and likelihood that budget will support project execution

- Has applicant demonstrated an understanding of the financial aspects of the proposed project?
- Can applicant support and complete proposed activities in the time allocated, through the effective deployment and management of resources, including personnel, travel, equipment, and supplies?
- Are costs allowable under the cost principles found in 2 CFR 200 Subpart E?
- If cost sharing, does the proposed cost share comply with relevant standards [2 CFR 200.306; Standard Provision "Cost Sharing (Matching)" for U.S. entities.]

E.2 Notice of Federal Award

Following review, applicants may be requested to revise the project scope and/or budget before an award is made. The Library reserves the right to award without requesting clarification or additional detail on the application.

Once all outstanding issues have been resolved, the Grant Officer will send a draft Grant Agreement via email to the successful applicant(s) for review, comments and or acceptance to be followed by full execution of the Grant Agreement. The Grant Agreement will include instructions specific to each recipient on how to request payment. If applicable, the instructions will detail any additional information/forms required and where to submit payment requests.

Applicants whose projects are not selected for funding will receive written notice, most often by e-mail, within 60 days of the final review decision.

E.3 Pre-award Risk Assessments

The successful applicant is responsible for ensuring achievement of the objectives described in this NOFO. Therefore, the applicant must be a responsible entity. The Grants Officer (GO) will decide on whether to subject the applicant to a pre-award survey, and based on the results, will make a determination if the prospective recipient is a responsible entity, whether the prospective recipient has the necessary organization, experience, accounting, and operational controls, financial resources, and technical skills – or ability to obtain them – in order to achieve the objectives of the program and comply with the terms and conditions of the award.

Prior to making an award under this NOFO, the Library may perform a pre-award survey for organizations that are new to working with the Library or for organizations with outstanding audit findings. Accounting systems, audit issues and management capability questions may be reviewed as part of this process. Depending on its result of the risk assessment, the Library may determine to execute the award, not execute the award, or award with “specific conditions” (2 CFR 200.208). If notified by the Library that a pre-award survey is necessary, applicants must prepare in advance the required information and documents. A pre-award survey does not commit the Library to make an award to any organization or individual.

F. PROJECT MANAGEMENT AND REPORTING

F.1 Approval Needed for Modifications to Proposed Work or Budget

Any project carried out under a grant must be consistent with the proposal that is approved for funding by the Library. Any significant change to a grant project's programmatic scope, key personnel, or planned budget requires the Library's explicit consent. The designated principal or authorizing official for the grantee shall submit, in writing (including email), all requests for a change to a grant project to the appropriate Library program officer for approval.

F.2 Project Reporting

Grantees must adhere to all reporting requirements listed below; further, US Non-governmental organizations need to be in compliance with 2 CFR 200. You should submit all reports by the due date for approval to the GO via email. In addition to the reports below, the GO may request additional information to contribute to the internal Library project reviews.

F.2.1 Project Development Plan

Grantees are required to submit a project development plan detailing major activity and milestones, including semi-annual status updates and regular review by Library staff, within thirty (30) days of award for the Library's approval.

F.2.2 Performance and Financial Reports

Interim Reports: Grantees are required to submit an interim performance report due on the six (6) month "anniversary" of the initial award. The interim report should include

- A description of activities undertaken to date
- Identification of any challenges and how they were, or are planned to be, resolved
- A review of project expenditures to date by category and notification of any anticipated changes to the project's spend plan

An interim report can take the form of a memorandum (approx. 1-2 pages) to the attention of "OTP Program Technical Contact" sent in PDF format. Financial data must be submitted on the SF-425 and on the budget summary report. Recipients may use the SF 270 in lieu of the SF 425 to report financial report expenditures. Financial expenditures should be reported no less than twice annually.

Final Reports: A final performance report must provide qualitative and quantitative information describing activities carried out and specific results achieved during the period, namely:

- A description of activities undertaken
- A comparison of actual accomplishments with the established goals and objectives of the award described in the project plan
- A description of reasons why established goals were not met, if appropriate
- Key implementation challenges encountered and how they were, or are planned to be, resolved.
- A review of the project's budget (projected vs. actual) including specification of any significant variance using the Budget Narrative Charts, and
- Any other pertinent information relevant to the project results.
- Each report shall be accompanied by the Post-Award Federal Financial Report Form 425 available for download on grants.gov.

The final report shall take the form of a report (with cover and table of contents) sent in PDF format.

Final reports are due no later than 90 calendar days after the award period of performance end date or termination date.

F.2.3 Notification of Significant Developments

Events may occur between the scheduled performance reporting dates which have or could have significant impact upon the supported activity. In such cases, recipients are required to notify the Library in writing as soon as the recipient becomes aware of any problems, delays, or adverse conditions that will materially impair the ability to meet the objective of the Federal award. The notification must include a statement of any corrective action(s) taken or contemplated, and any assistance needed to resolve the situation.

The recipient should also notify the Library in writing of any favorable developments that enable meeting time schedules and objectives sooner or at less cost than anticipated or producing more or different beneficial results than originally planned.

G. FEDERAL AWARD ADMINISTRATION

G.1 Administrative and National Policy Requirements

Awards resulting from this NOFO will be administered in accordance with the Library of Congress' Regulation LCR 7-310 (Grants and Funded Cooperative Agreements), policies in 2 CFR 200 (Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards) described here and in the award, the Library General Terms and Conditions identified herein, and the Library Assurances and Certifications (Appendix C). Entities that receive Library funding must be familiar with these requirements and comply with applicable law.

G.2 General Terms and Conditions

Guidance. Additional OMB guidance may be incorporated by reference into grant awards and, unless otherwise specified, includes the provisions identified herein. All such guidance will be administered in accordance with standard deferral requirements for grant agreements and as interpreted by the Library, including: 2 CFR 200, subparts D, E, and F.

Record Retention. Grantees shall retain all records relating to a grant award for a period of three years following the completion of any grant-related projects.

Branding. Grantees shall not use the name "Library of Congress" or any abbreviation or subset of the name (such as "LC," "LoC," or "American Folklife Center") to explicitly or implicitly endorse a product or service or materials in any publication, including online. Subject to the Library's prior written approval over all aspects of the use and presentation of the Library's name and logo, Grantees may use the name Library of Congress in connection with publication, distribution, packaging, publicity and promotion of the grant project or products produced as a result of a grant agreement. In addition, Grantees will acknowledge the collaboration with the Library by including a credit line in or on projects created under the terms of a grant agreement with the Library that reads "The [title of program/project] has been made possible in part by a grant from the Library of Congress."

G.3 Certifications

As an applicant for Federal funds, you must certify that you are responsible for complying with certain nondiscrimination, debarment and suspension, drug-free workplace, and lobbying laws. These are set out in more detail, along with other requirements, in Appendix C. Assurances and Certifications.

By submitting the application, which includes the Assurances and Certifications, you certify that you are in compliance with these requirements and that you will maintain records and submit any reports that are necessary to ensure compliance.

Applicant's failure to comply with these statutory and regulatory requirements may result in the suspension or termination of your award and require you to return funds to the government.

G.4 Disclosures and Other Required Notifications

G.4.1 Criminal, Civil, and Administrative Proceedings Disclosure

Applicant must disclose to the Library all violations of Federal criminal law involving fraud, bribery, or gratuity violations potentially affecting the Federal award in writing and in a timely manner.

Non-Federal entities that receive a Federal award including the terms and conditions outlined in 2 CFR 200, Appendix XII – Award Term and Condition for Recipient Integrity and Performance Matters are also required to report certain civil, criminal, or administrative proceedings to SAM. Failure to make required disclosures can result in any of the remedies described in 2 CFR 200.339 Remedies for Noncompliance, including suspension or debarment.

G.4.2 Total Value of Federal Assistance is Greater than $10,000,000

If the total value of your currently active grants, cooperative agreements, and procurement contracts from all Federal awarding agencies exceeds $10,000,000 for any period of time during the period of performance of this Federal award, you must maintain the currency of Proceedings and Exclusions information you report to the System for Award Management (SAM). This information is made available in the designated integrity and performance system (currently the Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System (FAPIIS) in accordance with Appendix XII to 2 CFR 200.

G.5 Intellectual Property Rights and Data Availability

Access and Use.

The Library's intention in this NOFO is that the collections created are of maximum benefit to the American people and contribute to public knowledge. To that end, documentation delivered under this grant will be deposited in the permanent collection of the Library of Congress's American Folklife Center, where it will be made available to researchers and other library patrons under existing copyright laws and regulations of the Library of Congress. In addition to digital collection materials deposited with the Library, copies may be retained by the interviewer and/or the local organization participating in the project.

The Library's preference is for projects that extend an open license for non-commercial public use to the collection materials, but we encourage applicants to describe in detail any specific limitations they might predict for portions of the collection. The Library intends to be attentive to culturally sensitive materials that may be part of documentation gathered during a project, and will work with grant awardees to determine the most appropriate approach regarding access. Interviewers and interviewees will be asked to sign releases granting the Library of Congress the perpetual and nonexclusive, transferable, worldwide rights to use, reproduce, transmit, display, perform, prepare derivatives works from, distribute, and authorize the distribution of the documentation. The permission includes use of the documentation for archival purposes (such as preservation and service to the public) and for non-commercial projects of the Library of Congress. This permission authorizes use of the documentation on the Library's Website, on third party Websites, and in/on all existing and future forms of media.

Applicant must describe any limitations on any intellectual property that will affect applicant's performance of the grant or affect the Library's (or the public's) subsequent use of any deliverable under the agreement (e.g. potential documentation of copyrighted cultural material). In particular, the applicant must describe the intellectual property in sufficient detail, clearly state any limitations, and describe how the Library can use the work with the limitations described or proposed by the applicant.

H. OTHER INFORMATION

H.1 Payments and Invoice Instructions

The grantee must prepare and submit invoices electronically to: www.ipp.gov. The recipient may submit payment requests using other than electronic means only when alternate procedures are authorized by the GO in writing. Assistance is available via the IPP Help Desk via email at: ippgroup@bos.frb.org or by commercial telephone at (866) 973-3131. Invoices shall contain the information required in the grant. The total grant award amount will be paid in three installments. The schedule will be included in the grant agreement and successful applicants will use the SF-270 to request funding:

Up to 60% within 30 days following project start
Up to 30% within 180 days after project start
Remaining 10% following receipt of the final report

H.2 Other Information

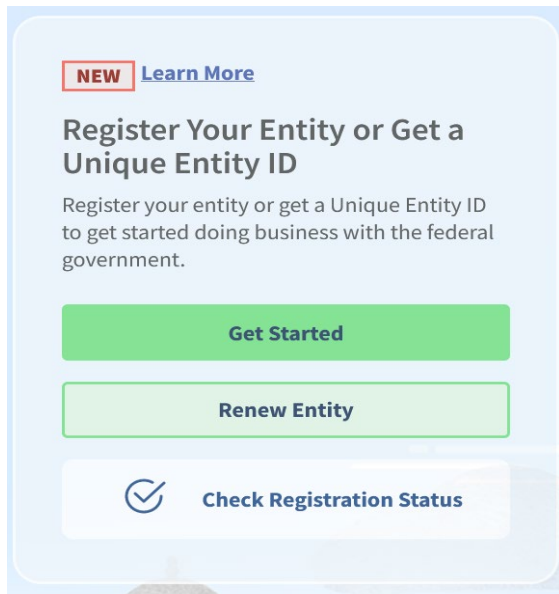

The Library reserves the right to fund any or none of the applications submitted. The GO is the only individual who may legally commit the Library to the expenditure of public funds. Any award and subsequent incremental funding will be subject to the availability of funds and continued relevance to Library programming.

Appendix A: SAM.gov

Applicants must obtain a Unique Entity Identifier (UEI) number (see detailed description below) by registering in SAM.gov. The Library may not make a Federal award to an applicant that has not completed the SAM.gov registration. If an applicant selected for funding has not completed their SAM.gov registration by the time the program is ready to make an award, the Library may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive an award. The Library can use that determination as a basis for making an award to another applicant. There is no cost to register with SAM.gov. There are third-party vendors who will charge a fee in exchange for registering entities with SAM.gov; please be aware you can register and request help for free. Award recipients must continue to maintain an active SAM.gov registration with current information through the life of their Federal award(s).

How to register with the System for Award Management (SAM)

Select “Get Started” on the section shown below on the landing page on the SAM.gov website to register. You will have to register as an Entity. An Entity on SAM.gov is defined as prime contractors, organizations, or individuals applying for assistance awards. SAM.gov will issue you a Unique Entity Identifier (UEI) number.

More information on the registration process can be found on the “Help” tab on SAM.gov.

Once registered in SAM.gov, entities must renew and revalidate their SAM registration at least once every 12 months from the date previously registered. To complete the process on SAM.gov, you will need the same kind of information used to obtain your Tax Identification Number (TIN) and other data to complete registration and reporting requirements.

Appendix B: Budget Definitions

Cost Types

Budget expenses are considered either Direct or Indirect Costs that will be funded solely through the grant or through a combination of the grant and other funding sources.

Indirect Costs. Indirect costs are expenses incurred for common or joint objectives that cannot be easily allocated to a particular project, such as centralized administrative services, utilities, general insurance, local telephone service, or the salaries of the management and administrative personnel of the organization. See 2 CFR Part 200 for additional guidance.

- Indirect cost rates included in an applicant's proposed budget and narrative may not exceed 15%. The Library of Congress does not adhere to the indirect cost rates negotiated by other federal agencies pursuant to OMB regulations.

Direct Costs. A direct cost is any cost that can be specifically identified or assigned to the proposed project. Direct costs include, but are not limited to, salaries, travel, equipment, and supplies directly benefiting the project.

Cost Share. Cost share is that portion of the project costs that will be paid by other than Library grant funds including cash outlays, contribution of property and services, and in-kind contributions, such as staff or volunteer time that support project activities.

- As with grant funds, all cost share expenses must be incurred during the award period of performance unless otherwise specified and allowed by law.
 - o Federal funds from other federal awards may not be used for cost sharing.
 - o All federal, Library, and program requirements regarding the use of funds apply to both requested Library grant funds and to cost sharing. See 2 CFR §§ 200.1 and 200.306 for more information on cost share.

Definitions

Direct costs are identified separately on Budget Narrative worksheets with information detailing the items included, their purpose or relationship to the project, and other baseline information helping to quantify:

- Salaries, Wages, and Benefits: Include both temporary and permanent staff as well as volunteers engaged in project activities. Document the method of cost computation (e.g., as percentage of a person's time devoted to the project, number of days, number of hours) in your Budget Justification. Benefits can only be claimed as a direct cost for those positions included in the direct cost pool and only on the portion of salaries and wages identified for this project.
- Travel: A description of any travel costs, including transportation, lodging, and per diem. Applicants must use the lowest available commercial fares for coach or equivalent accommodations. Please refer to the Narrative section of this Notice of Funding Opportunity for information about specific travel requirements, if any.
- Equipment: Costs of equipment purchased specifically for the proposed project. Equipment is defined as tangible personal property (including information technology systems) having a useful life of more than one year and a per-unit acquisition cost which equals or exceeds the lesser of the capitalization level established by the non-Federal entity for financial statement purposes, or $5,000. 2 CFR 200.313. For other information, please see 2 CFR Part 200.

- Supplies: Costs of supplies and materials purchased specifically for the proposed project. Supplies is defined as tangible personal property other than those described in 2 CFR 200.33 (Equipment). A computing device is a supply if the acquisition cost is less than the lesser of the capitalization level established by the non-Federal entity for financial statement purposes or $5,000, regardless of the length of its useful life. 2 CFR 200.314. For definitions and other information, please see 2 CFR Part 200.
- Contractual: Costs of each third party that will undertake specific project activities such as partners, consultants, collaborators, vendors, and/or service providers. The applicant is responsible for determining whether an agreement with a third party should be a subaward or a contract. That determination will depend upon the nature of applicant's relationship with the third party with respect to the activities to be carried out. (See 2 CFR § 200.331 (Subrecipient and contractor determinations)).
- Other Costs: Costs that cannot be assigned to other categories.

Appendix C: Assurances and Certifications

Debarment and Suspension. Applicant institutions or their principals must not be presently debarred or suspended or otherwise excluded from or ineligible to participate in federal assistance programs. An applicant or grantee shall provide immediate written notice to the Library's Grants Officer if at any time it learns that its certification was erroneous when submitted or has become erroneous by reason of changed circumstances. Grantees shall not make or permit any sub-grant or contract to any party which is debarred or suspended or is otherwise excluded from or ineligible for participation in federal assistance programs. Grantees and sub-grantees must not make any award or permit any award (sub-grant or contract) at any tier to any party which is debarred or suspended or is otherwise excluded from or ineligible for participation in Federal assistance programs.
